Application is allowed. All the documents are taken on record.

C.R.No.1406 of 2007

This is a petition against judgment dated 1.3.2007 of Addl. District Judge, Chandigarh whereby an appeal filed by the present petitioner-plaintiff against order dated 23.1.2007 of Civil Judge(Jr.Divn.), Chandigarh had been declined.

Plaintiff, now petitioner had filed suit for declaration challenging orders of the Rent Controller, Appellate Authority, High Court and Supreme Court. Those orders were against the plaintiff.

According to the plaintiff, these orders were nonest, illegal, void, inexecutable and had been obtained by fraud on the plaintiff and the Courts. The suit was also for declaration challenging sale deed dated 7.8.1981 registered on 11.8.1981 executed between the defendants inter se since it was against the guidelines of the RBI. The suit was for permanent injunction for restraining the defendants from dispossessing the plaintiff from the demised premises.

Sneh Lata present petitioner was a party in the proceedings.

There are concurrent findings of two courts below. In view of the earlier judgment in which Snehlata was party, the courts below had rightly dismissed the application of the present petitioner U/o 39 Rule 1 & 2 CPC for staying dispossession.

No merit. Dismissed.
